Australians to face new risks

Medical practitioners and lawyers say new treaties will lead to more:

- cost of living increases
- lockdowns
- business closures and job losses
- travel restrictions
- school closures and interrupted learning
- social isolation and loneliness
- mental health problems
- domestic violence
- mandates and censorship.

AMPS (Australian Medical Professionals' Society) says, 'the new treaties will cost Australia billions and make huge profits for Big Business. They will do more harm than good for Australian families'.
